As an Expats' child I had the opportunity to live in France when I was 5 years old. Later on, I did half of my bachelor, and my postgraduate in the United Kingdom, where I had chance to make great friends from around the world. During my professional experience at the Ministry of Finances, I took part in coordinating high-level Ministerial meetings like APEC and G-20. Subsequently, as Project Manager for Latin America in HSBC, I had the opportunity to work with colleagues from different countries such as: Costa Rica, France, Argentina, Canada, the United Kingdom, China, India, Panama and Brazil. These experiences allowed me understand expats and learn about their needs and expectations in Mexico.

Nowadays, I am Director of The Meet Point, a company founded to celebrate cultural diversity, whilst provide high-quality services to expats that live, work, study or retire in Mexico, so they can make the most of their experience in this country.
