

The Monarch Butterfly

Every year huge numbers of Monarch Butterflies undertake a journey of up to 4,000 kilometers from Canada and the United States to Mexico. Once in Mexico, they congregate in Michoacan and Mexico states to spend their winter hibernation at the very same trees from which their ancestors departed.

After hibernating, they will begin another migration northward. However, no single individual makes the entire round trip, it is a multi-generational migration. It is the second, third and fourth generations that return to their northern locations in the spring. How the Monarch Butterfly manages to return to the same trees over a gap of several generations is still a subject of research; the flight patterns appear to be inherited.

An extraordinary experience awaits you at the Monarch Butterfly Biosphere Reserve, recognized by UNESCO as a World Heritage site in 2008. Visiting the Reserves in Mexico offers an exceptional opportunity to witness a wonder of nature. //Photo by Ana Vigil Osorio.

PARTNER: 5 NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS by Marceline Pernon

1. TELL YOUR PARTNER THAT YOU LOVE THEM!

Certainly, the people we love most are the hardest people to tell... "I love you".

2. COMMUNICATE!

If there is a misunderstanding ... do not allow the discomfort to last... express what you feel... but do not start a discussion by: "you.. you ...", instead try to express your feelings by saying: "I believe that... I have the impression that..." thus, communication will remain open.

3. FORGIVE!

Without forgiveness love cannot endure. Resentment and revenge are feelings that corrode and constrain your live.

4. PAY ATTENTION TO YOUR SEXUAL LIFE!

"Making love" is making the Love. Wake up the love, feed it, invent and reinvent it. What a beautiful thing is when you can hug to each other!

5. DO NOT ALLOW YOUR CHILDREN TO "CONSUME" YOUR RELATIONSHIP!

The joy of being father or mother does not impede you from being lover. Never forget this!

Relationship counseling brings the opportunity to explore and understand difficulties in the couple relationship whilst find ways to resolve the problems. It is a space for the couple to talk, listen and be heard, an important step to changing an unhappy situation. Make your relationship phenomenal contact mpernon@hotmail.com.
