San Miguel de Allende

Recently named one of the Top Ten Destinations in the World by Condé Nast Traveler magazine, and selected as one of the Five Best Places in the World to Visit by the readers of Travel & Leisure magazine, San Miguel de Allende is the most charming and safest city within Mexico.

While keeping one foot firmly planted in its rich past, San Miguel de Allende has everything for everyone: an extremely active art scene, fabulous shopping, excellent restaurants, world class hotels and much more! All coexist in perfect balance with traditional elements of Mexican culture. The city is famous for beautiful regional crafts; street vendors offer pottery, exquisitely embroidered dresses, Huichol jewelry and weaved baskets.

The fact that many Expats have chosen San Miguel as their new home, or as a 'home-away-from-home', speaks highly of the advantages the city has to offer. People say that San Miguel de Allende's vibrant atmosphere and charming allure is due to the fact that the town rests atop an immense natural deposit of quartz. Whether that is true or not, the point is that San Miguel's appeal to both Mexicans and foreigners cannot be argued, and there is, indeed, some sort of 'magic' about it. San Miguel de Allende is a "must-see" in Mexico. Enjoy its traditional markets, the magnificence of its architecture and the warmth of its inhabitants. You will fall in love with its relaxed, unique and magical personality – as many have before.

Choosing an Appropriate School in Mexico

Families moving abroad often face the dilemma of finding the right school for an expatriate child. In Mexico There are plenty of good schools, quite a number of which are of high educational standard. How do you ensure that your kids get a good education? Here's some help on making that decision:

- ❖ It is very important to move at the end of a school year, this will be far less disruptive for your child. If the move will last less than two years, international schools may be better suited for transient students.
- ❖ Choosing a school will require a significant amount of research. The best way to get information is to schedule a visit with the principal. In addition, many schools have comprehensive web sites that provide information relating the quality of curriculum, available programs and facilities.
- ❖ Trust word-of-mouth recommendations from Expat organizations to identify potential schools and concerns about waiting lists, culture, location and traffic.
- ❖ Find schools where the student body consists mainly of children in the same situation. International schools are used to receive new students every year from all over the world.
- ❖ Look for a school that is affiliated with your home country. This will ensure that if your child returns home, he/she can effortlessly re-enter your home education system.
